PALPITATION OF THE HEART.

Shortness of Breath, Swelling of Legs and Feet.

"For about four years I was troubled with palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath and swelling of the legs and feet. At times I would faint. I was treated by the best physicians in Savannah, Ga., with no relief. I then tried various Springs, without benefit. Finally I tried Dr. Miles' Heart Cure also his Nerve and Liver Pills. After beginning to take them I felt better! I continued taking them and I am now in better health than for many years. Since my recovery I have gained fifty pounds in weight. I hope this statement may be of value to some poor sufferer."

A REACTION FROM THE ACTIVITY

On the Stock Exchange-Effect of the Unfavorable Corn Crop-Government Reports Not Regarded as Reliable - Wall Street - Prospective

Currency Legislation. Special Correspondence of the Intelligencer

New York, Sept. 15.—There has been some reaction from the activity on the stock exchange immediately following the ending of tariff legislation: but nevertheless the improved tone of the market and the increased strength of values are fully maintained. It seems too early indeed to expect any really large and continuous speculative movement at the present stage of recovery. Confidence has been sufficiently strengthened to prevent selling at the present range of prices; but we must wait for a fuller development of the general effects of the revival, and especially for a more continuous inespecially for a more continuous in-cresse in the earnings of the railroads, before there is an influx of buyers suffi-cient to produce a really active specula-tive condition. Naturally enough, after such a period of depression and unset-ctioment, there is more or less of a cau-ticus temper in every direction; and this shows itself in a disposition to take moderate profits.

There is, however, none of that absence of means for speculative transac-tions that usually prove to be one of the most stubborn after-effects of panic.

sence of menus for speculative transactions that usually prove to be one of the most stubborn after-effects of panic. On the contrary, the extraordinary ease in money has brought into the market an unusually large amount of funds for employment in stocks so soon as the conditions become ripe for a general and material rise in values; and, at a lator stage, the purchases of this class of operators are likely to develop a very active campaign. In the meantime, however, there is a good basis for purchases on the breaks in prices, and the policy of quick turns for moderate profits is likely to bring satisfactory results. The market has the disadvantage of being much narrowed through the large smount of securities held in usupense by the reconstruction of so many large railroad companies. Some of these readjustments are now nearing a settlement; and there is naturally a disposition among practiced operators to defer transactions until the market is stimulated by these securities returning to their usual activity.

The government crop report on corn had at first an unfavorable effect upon the market. On second thought, however, the estimates are discredited as far too low. The recent unfavorable weather has no doubt put the former highest estimates beyond all hope of realization; but nobody, except a handful of "bears," is prepared to accept an estimate of 1,100,000,000 bushels, which is about what the bureau's statement and partment backed by all the prestice of the United States government should systematically put forth estimates upon crops amounting to close upon $1,500,000,000 to value, which are generally found to be under the truth and misleading. The most charitable supposition is that the bureau of agriculture is unavoidably exposed to errors or misrepresentations, on the part of its agents, which make it impossible to insure accuracy; but if that be the fact,—and it probably,—there is all the more reason why that department should disponse with the superfluity of a statistician.

Wall street is already begi this the Democratic party has accomplished, and the end is not yet.

It is true that the mountain, after laboring and quaking eighteen months, has succeeded, by "party dishonor and party perfidy," in bringing fourth a—a—mouse! But, then, it promises to keep on "laboring" until it has cost forth an elephant! Yes, it is a "promising" party! We all remember what it promised to the laboring man in the shop and on the farm—and it is "promising," as it began with "c-a-n't."

Lot it be christened the "can't party," and put into its little crib with a big "augar" it in its mouth next November; then let can take a hand in business, and prosperity will return with "healing in its wings" to bless all the waiting hungry people. Speed the day!

Fairmont, W. Va., September 15.

wall street is already beginning to occupy itself with the prospects of the coning congressional elections. The matter around which interest centers is the currency question. It is taken for granted that that issue must come up for settlement, even though the session of Congress be the short one; and much interest turns on the question—how far the disposition of the next Congress may be changed on the currency question? The possibility that both parties, owing to party competition, may bid for the votes of the Populists is the main cause of any uncasiness on this account. It is, however, very possible that the influence of any more Populist theories may be thwarted by Congress taking up the question next December and putting it through before the 4th of March.

There has been no congressional action to show very clearly how congressional opinion stands upon the carrency issue; but among members of the house who have been best situated to form a judgment, there is a strong hope that it may be found possible to carry through, before next March, a measure that will set at rest the silver and the flat money crazes through putting our bank currency system upon a broader that will set at reat the surviving our flat money crazes through putting our flat money crazes through putting our that will set at rost the silver and the flat money crazes through putting our bank currency system upon a broader and more liberal and y set absolutely secure hasis, and by substituting it for the 500,000,000 of government notes which now constitute the weak feature of our monetary system. If this can be done, the monetary complexion of the new Congress will be a matter of secondary importance. It rests very much with the men of finance—whose experience affords the best qualifications for guiding opinions on this question—to show the way towards an early and wise settlement of this vexed question. There are ways in which they can make their guidance influential; and in proportion as they discreedly use their power will be the chances of a final placing of the currency settlement beyond the reach of both silver manics and Populists.

The market has been more active and sales foot up larger. One manufacturer is reported to have bought 1,200,000 pounds of Montana wool at 13a14c. General values are easier in the absence of demand, and sales of fleeces have been made at 20c for XX and above Ohlo, with X at 183c. Combings are dull and 1c lower. Sales of Australian wools have increased, one transaction of 350,000 pounds at 20a21c being noted. Samples of many kinds of foreign wool new to American buyers are being shown, and the prospects are that many experimental purchases will be made while manufacturers are finding out what will work best and cheapest. The London sale opens on Tuesday, which will de much toward fixing the price of fine wools in this country. The Antwerp wool sale has opened at slightly easier prices.
